

VĀC – THE GODDESS OF LANGUAGE

a London weekend workshop with Dr. Robert Svoboda

20-21 May 2017 10am – 4pm

Communication began shortly after the dawn of life, and has characterized all forms of existence ever since. All living beings communicate, and though we of today may pride ourselves on our admittedly impressive technological advancement in the speedy transmission and reception of voice, text and images, there is far more to the exchange of information than can be encapsulated in legible words and intelligible sounds.

This weekend will explore in theory and in practice how prana expresses itself as sound and speech – nāda, śabda, sphoṭa – on multiple levels – vaikharī, madhyamā, paśyantī, parā – and how we can enliven these within us as manifestations of Vāc, the Goddess of Language.

Venue: St Mary's Brookfield, York Rise, London, NW5 1SB, UK

Natasha Nandini will assist with light yoga and sound
